

STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION

ISSUE IN KENTUCKY

And Every Candidate For Office Will Be Asked His Position, Says Dr. Palmer

Each candidate before the people of Kentucky next year is going to be asked the question whether or not he is in favor of submission to a vote of the people of an amendment to the constitution for state-wide prohibition. This was what Rev. A. N. Palmer, superintendent for Kentucky of the Anti-Saloon League, said here last week, when he paid a short visit to local temperance workers. Dr. Palmer was making a quiet tour of Kentucky counties in this part of the state, endeavoring to raise funds for prosecution of the temperance work.

He told friends here that from now on a determined effort will be made to secure a submission of the state-wide question. If submitted to a vote of the people, the most vigorous campaign ever seen in Kentucky will be waged to carry it. The temperance leaders appreciate the fact that the liquor interests will have no stone thrown to defeat the proposition. They will seek to prevent its submission to a vote of the people, and if it is submitted by the legislature, will then go to work to secure its adoption by the people.

Incidentally the Anti-Saloon League proposes to make a request of every candidate, for office, no matter to what party he belongs, to state just where he stands upon his question, and it goes without saying that those who are not in sympathy with the work of the Anti-Saloon League and its temperance plans, will not receive its support nor the support of its friends, who are interested in the work it is endeavoring to accomplish.

CRAB ORCHARD

Frank Holdman entered eternal rest at three A. M. Monday, December 14th, after a long and painful fight with that terrible disease, consumption. Frank was one of the very best boys ever raised here, devoted to his mother, sister and brothers. As long as he was able to work his wages were shared by his mother and sister. During his long sickness he was most patient and kind, never murmuring against his fate and so grateful for every favor extended him by any one. He had a great many friends who did all in their power to make his last days pleasant. He did not lack for attention or any good things to eat and his family wish to extend their gratitude to all who ministered to his needs. Especially do they wish to thank Mr. David Newland and wife, who were untiring in their efforts to help him till the very last. Mr. George Lyon spoke beautifully of his past life in a short address at the home where his remains, He was buried in Cemetery Hill and the terribly cold weather prevented many from attending. To the bereaved mother, sister and brothers, we extend our deepest sympathy, with the hope that some day they will again meet Frank in a world where sickness cannot enter.

Mrs. Katherine Dunn is sitting up and very much improved.

Mr. Robert White and wife are both about well again.

Our sweet little friend, Maud Gooch, who has been suffering for some months with a bronchial trouble remains about the same. She is not close enough to us, so as to be able to always state her condition, which we will gladly do whenever we hear from her.

The bazaar given by the ladies of the Christian church last Saturday was a success. About $25 was made.

From the Oyster Supper held by the Ladies Aid of the Christian church, $50 was made.

There were several nice articles that were not sold at the bazaar, such as fancy aprons, embroidered towels, embroidered linen pillow slips that would make such handsome Christmas presents and you can get them by writing or seeing Mrs. W. J. Edmiston.

Mr. John Carson and wife of New Orleans, La., attended the burial of Frank Holdman.

Mr. Newman Holdman, of Jellico, was very sick at his mother's here, but was well enough to return home Wednesday.

Mr. Charlie Holdman and wife of Mayville, are with his mother, Mrs. Claudia Holdman.

We had such an interesting letter a few days since from Mrs. Wheat (now White) of Tucson, Ariz., asking us to state something of the old people of this place, which we will try to do later on.

Dr. Doores is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Perkins with whom he has boarded since they gave up keeping hotel at the Governor's house. He is in real good health and fine spirits, still likes a joke, when not on him.

Mr. John Edmiston, Sr., is living with Dr. W. J. Edmiston, his son, at the old home on lower Main street. He is Notary Public, has real good health can entertain splendidly and has a clear memory although eighty-six years of age.

Mr. Armstrong Hatt, another old resident, closely nearing his ninety year mark, lives on Copper Creek. Comes to town often, riding as erect as though only sixteen years old, is hale, nimble and expects to live to be a hundred.

I will mention the rest of our men who are in eighty, some other time and tell where each one can be found.

Dr. W. J. Edmiston has purchased the sanatorium here and will renovate and make it a most inviting place in the near future. The doctor is fully capable of making a success of this, and is seen to no one in the surgery and a splendid physician.

CRAB ORCHARD OFFICE UP

Gets Into Presidential Class and Gooch Is Re-appointed

Dispatches from Washington last week stated that Edward Gooch had been appointed Postmaster at Crab Orchard. The name of Mr. Gooch was sent to the senate for confirmation, by the president, upon recommendation of Congressman Helms. Mr. Gooch has been serving as postmaster at Crab Orchard for several months, under the civil service law, as Crab Orchard has been until few months ago, a fourth class office. The receipts of that office increased to such a degree during the past year, that it became a presidential office, and it became necessary to make the appointment. Under this class office no examination is required, the president making the appointment upon the recommendation of the Congressmen and as Congressman Helms recommended Mr. Gooch, his appointment was promptly made. Mr. Gooch has been making a good record as postmaster in the East End and his friends are pleased at his re-appointment.

P. T. Brown, of Garrard County, Gets $19.00 Per Hundred For Some of His Crop. This is Considered the Banner Week of Local Markets

DANVILLE BEST TOBACCO MARKET IN KENTUCKY

Last week was the banner one of the season on the part of the Peoples Tobacco Warehouse at Danville. The upward trend of prices has been most encouraging to all concerned. The quality of the offerings have been better and the prices higher, so all combined the indications are most encouraging.

The Peoples House near the Queen & Crescent Railway has been the scene of great activity the past week. There were sold over the breaks a total of 406,045 pounds without any rejections. The Peoples House has made a splendid record, and the officers of establishment and the sellers alike are highly elated. The last sale prior to the holidays takes place today, December 22 and the first sale after the holiday will be held on Tuesday, December 29th.

Tobacco has been in good condition for handling, and buyers have been eager to secure it. Garrard, Lincoln and Mercer county growers have made some splendid averages but space forbids giving a complete list of all those who sold.

Many of the sellers visited other markets and other tobacco warehouses and sold portions of their crops, but all came back to the Peoples House where it appears that the highest prices are being realized. This is doubtless due to the splendid manner in which their crops are handled by the alert warehouse force which offers every means of co-operation to the sellers.

A big force has been working both night and day in order to handle the sales with dispatch so that the growers are enabled to lose a little time as possible. Following herewith is given some sales showing the prices received per pound for different baskets:

Chay Clark, of Garrard county, sold the following baskets:

230 pounds at	11 cents
220 pounds at	12 1-2 cents
260 pounds at	12 1-4 cents
125 pounds at	12 3-4 cents
190 pounds at	13 cents
390 pounds at	13 cents

DOING A SPLENDID WORK

Domestic Science Department of School Has Pie Supper

The pie supper which was given by the Domestic Science Department of the Stanford High School on last Friday evening was a success in every sense. The program which preceded the sale of the pies was rendered in a delightful manner. Those who performed on the piano were: Misses Sallie Mills, Anna VanArsdale, Craig, Mary Early, Nancy Katherine McKinney and Mary Moore Raney. Those who recited were Misses Rachel Hill and Anna K. Matheny. Mrs. Lolla Pickett sang "A Perfect Day," and received much applause. The High School Girls' Glee Club handled their numbers on the program in a very entertaining way and Miss Ida Judd told of the growth of the Domestic Science Department. She said that the girls show great interest in this work and insisted that the patrons and friends of the school visit the class in cooking. The young ladies furnished forty pies which they prepared at their homes. Mr. Wm. Severance was the auctioneer and did his part in a most pleasing way by first quoting from James Whitcomb Riley on "Pie" and then dropping in bits of humor between the sale of each pie. The best bidder saw as much as one dollar and fifty cents in a single pie. The total amount realized from the sale was $28.50, which is to be used for the supplies used in the department.

REV. DELK FINED $250

Evangelist Who Preached at K. M. Catches It Heavy in Somerset

A dispatch from Somerset to the daily papers last week said: While conducting a series of revival meetings at Science Hill, Pulaski county the Rev. A. J. Delk, a traveling evangelist, was arrested on a warrant charging him with being a public nuisance. He was given a trial there and found guilty, fined $250 and given a jail sentence of fifty days. He served notice of appeal. It is the first time in the history of Pulaski county that any person has been arraigned under this statute. Rev. Delk is soon to begin a meeting at Junction City, it is said. He conducted a meeting at King's Mountain a short time ago.

The Somerset Republican prints the following "endorsement" of Rev. Delk:

"J. L. Delk was tried last Thursday on the charge of being a public nuisance and pleaded 'guilty' to the charge and was fined $250 and fifty days in jail. This is the third time he has been fined for conduct since he has been in Pulaski county. He has appealed all of them to the circuit court. Delk calls himself a traveling evangelist; he came here last June and stayed through the summer and went to Science Hill where he is still holding forth. The wife that he deserted something like ten years ago in Tennessee was here to testify against him, but he decided not to go into trial. What he has been fined for in each case was for using vulgar, indecent and obscene language. If you should go in to the lowest dives in the country we doubt if you would hear as bad language as he uses in the pulpit. If that is preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ may God pity us."

But One Paper This Week and Next

In accordance with its usual custom, the I. J. will issue but one paper this week and only one next week. It is always customary to celebrate the Christmas and New Year holidays, and most of the country newspapers skip a week entirely with no issue. The I. J. office will be open every day except Christmas day, for business, however, and job printing will be executed with neatness and dispatch and at prices the other fellow can't touch. The I. J. wishes one and all its friends and its enemies—if it has any—a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Dees McCullough Control

The Republican Party?

The movement is well under way to whittize the remnant of the Republican party in Kentucky that has been endeavoring to piece itself together for the State fight of the coming year. The first open step was taken at Louisville the past week, when J. W. McCullough, the millionaire distiller of Owensboro, dominated a meeting of the party leaders and had himself, together with Charles Scholl, of Louisville, and Green Garrett, of Winchester, constituted a committee to lay the wires for a convention in the early Spring in advance of the selection of the party's nominees in the State primary election. The purpose of this move is very evident. It is to forestall the action of the voters of the party in their selection of a candidate for Governor and other State officers by laying down a platform of principles to which the party stands committed, thus eliminating any man as a candidate who is not in line with the platform made and provided, unless, of course, he should want to back the convention declarations, which of itself would put him out of the running.

The idea of holding a party platform convention in advance of the State primary election is repugnant to the primary election statute of the State. It was intended by the promoters and framers of that law, in Kentucky and elsewhere, that voters of a political party should, untrammeled, choose the men who are to represent the party in the State election of November following. Not that any faction or set of men within the party should be allowed to, beforehand, commit the party to certain principles that they might be able by whatever means to lay down, and thus eliminate probably the strongest candidates before the voters of that party before the day of the primary election. Not that a political party should find itself after the primary election, as might result, with a gubernatorial candidate standing directly opposed to one or more of the planks of the platform made probably before he even became a candidate before the people for office.

The plan of the Owensboro distiller met with serious opposition among the Republican leaders gathered at Louisville and his proposed convention for his party may never be held. Certainly, it will not if the leaders of that party have even the slightest hope of being successful next November, and some of them at least indulge this hope else they would not have wasted the time necessary to attend the Louisville meeting. No one who is conversant with Republican political history in Kentucky the past few years will doubt that Mr. McCullough dominates the committee named with him to arrange for this convention. Mr. Scholl has always stood hitched to the liquor side of things in the Republican party. Mr. Garrett is the Republican member of the State Railroad Commission, and has stood consistently against any advance along any line in the matter of temperance legislation, being at Frankfort during the past two legislative sessions in the line-up against the county unit measure of those sessions. Mr. McCullough places his business above party at all times. He evidenced this by an act fresh in the mind of every Republican and every temperance advocate in Kentucky. When Judge E. C. O'Rear, of Montgomery county, was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor four years ago McCullough did everything in his power to prevent him securing the nomination. O'Rear stood out squarely for the promotion of all good temperance legislation, and never hesitated to take a position when the matter was up. He was given his party's nomination over the opposition of McCullough and the whiskey forces. The Owensboro millionaire, sulled for awhile, then ostensibly came into line with his party's declaration in the nomination of O'Rear, but as it afterward developed he did so only for the purpose of betraying Judge O'Rear and the Republican party because it had refused to follow his behests. He did this by making privately a contribution of five hundred dollars to the Republican State campaign fund, gathered in the interest of O'Rear and those on the State ticket with him. Hardly had his check been cashed by the campaign committee before the Owensboro man let it be known that O'Rear, standing for temperance legislation and running upon such a platform, had received contributions from the whiskey element in Kentucky. The story was broadly scattered over Kentucky. Judge O'Rear might have, probably would have been beaten even had the story not come out, but its publication disheartened his advocates among the temperance forces in his own party and he lost thousands of votes that he would otherwise have gotten. He thus paid the penalty for having stood for a principle.

Mr. McCullough and those allied with him do not want to be placed in a similar position next year, and have to elect between a Democratic and a Republican nominee for Governor neither of whom they have had anything to do with selecting, so they propose to hold a cut and dried convention beforehand, in both parties if possible, and lay down a platform upon which no man but one of their choice can afford to stand or make the race. They have taken the preliminary steps toward holding such a convention for the Republican party, and if the Louisville meeting indicates anything at all this early it indicates that their action forecasts a split of serious proportions in that party, with a large element remaining out of the convention, if it ever is held.

The lesson is one that should prove very valuable to the Democratic party at this particularly time, when a voice is being raised at several points in the State for an early convention in advance of the August primary election. To the fellow who knows the game and the earmarks of politics, it is easy to see the source from which this advice is being given to the Democratic hosts. Plainly, it is coming from the same brain that hatched the scheme that Mr. McCullough is endeavoring to carry out within the Republican party, and it is being disseminated through the same organs that have been used heretofore for the purpose of making sentiment for the liquor interests. It will hardly work in the Democratic party, however. At this time the party has at its head Chairman R. H. VanSant, a man of clear insight into things political and the party committees are made up of men of good judgment and political sagacity. They know, by experience, that a convention beforehand was inadvisable four years ago, when the Democracy won such a splendid victory, and they know that the voters of the Democratic party can be trusted to go to the polls next August and, free and untrammelled, select a ticket of men who can win in November. At this distance it looks as if the wisest thing the Democratic party can do is to sit steady and watch this McCullough play to a conclusion, then hold its platform convention after the August primary.

WE MUST NOT FORGET

The annual happy giving time is with us again. We have drifted into a most beautiful nation-wide custom of giving presents, of trying to make people happier this sacred season of the year, of making little gifts to our friends and to the poor. LETS NOT FORGET our friends whom we love and whom we want to make glad and and cheerful and above all LET'S NOT FORGET that class whom He said you have with you always. It takes so little to make one cheerful. Only to remind them they are not forgotten. Never since time began, never since the first Christmas morn have there been so many homeless, heartbroken, hungry, unhappy men, women and children in the world. Let us not give extravagantly nor sparingly, but in wisdom and love. We show many not expensive things you can give.

Please take your time and make your selection so you will not have to exchange it.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF

Which is Better—Try an Experiment or Profit by a Stanford Citizen Experience

Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented. The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit. But the endorsement of friends is. Now supposing you had a bad back. A lame, weak, or aching one. Would you experiment on it? You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far away places.

It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony.

Mrs. Belle Hawkins, of Eminence, Ky., was a victim of stomach disorders. She took a great deal of treatment and medical attention.

At last she tried Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and got real results. In a letter telling of her experience she said: "I have taken all of the medicines I ordered of you and will say it has done more good than all the doctors and medicines I ever tried. I don't really think I am well. I never felt better in my life. If I ever should need any medicine I know where to get it." WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

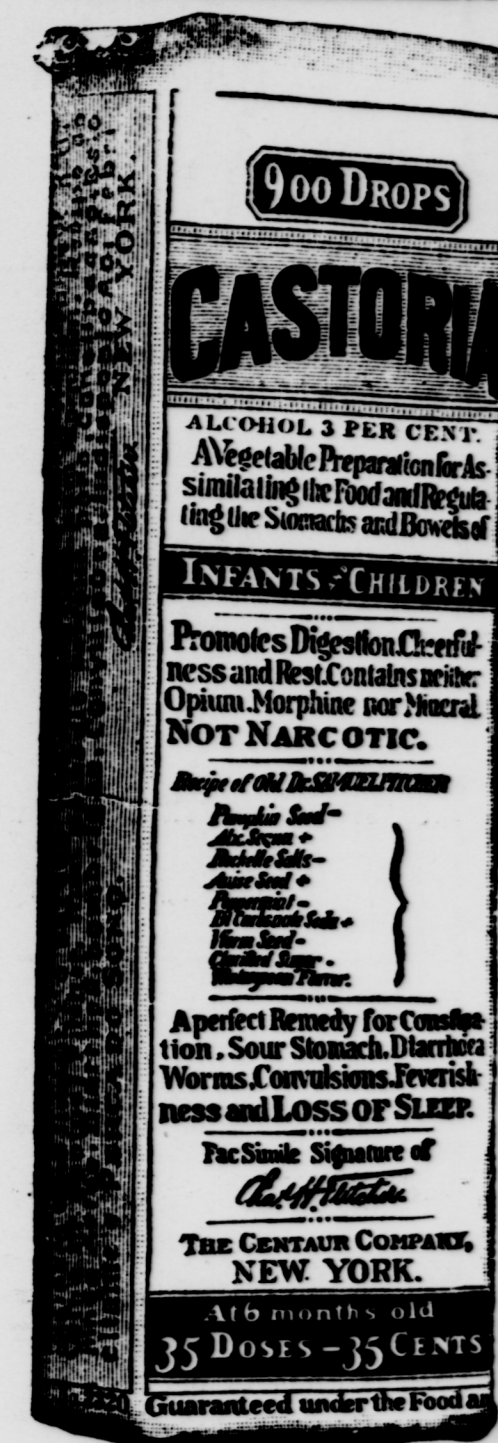

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my household work."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more. I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

Cummins, Anderson & Pettus, of Preachersville, shipped a car load of hogs to Cincinnati last week, for which they received $7.10 per hundred.

Tobacco took a jump on the Danville markets Monday and growers are much better pleased with prices obtained. Prices ran all the way up to 17 cents a pound, Harry Frye, near Hubble, sold most of his 5,000-pound around 13 cents; and Col. R. H. Houghton, of Crab Orchard, got 10 cents and better for a load. A tremendous lot of the weed has been going into the Danville markets. Sales have closed there until next Tuesday.

Grant Hammonds, of Preachersville, sold ten head of 180-pound hogs at five and a half cents per pound, the first of the month to J. M. Cress. George Sutton, of the same section sold 34 head of 200-pound hogs to the same at five and three-quarters cents a pound.

A writer in the Farmers' Home Journal said: The writer recently paid a visit to L. H. Messer, Stanford, Ky., where he inspected several of his colts which are a very promising lot. His coming to a very old colt, Lincoln Choice, is especially promising. This colt has been a good winner, both in his weanling and yearling form and promises to develop into a high class horse.

AS administrator with the will annexed of James A. Harris, deceased, I will on Tuesday December 29, 1914

At 2 P. M. sell, at the dwelling house on the premises at public outcry to the highest bidder, 100 acres of land, it being part of the James A. Harris farm and that part upon which is located the old Harris home.

This land is located about three miles west of Stanford, and adjoins the lands of E. P. Woods, S. T. Harris and R. C. Hocker, and is now in possession of S. T. Harris, who will be glad to show same to any persons calling there.

This land will be sold for one-third cash, and remainder in two equal payments, due in six and twelve months from January 1, 1915, and bearing interest from that date until paid, at six per cent.

No tribute is so appropriate as a monument, cut from enduring granite. It stands unaltered, unchanged, preserving a memory through the long years.

I invite you to see my work and designs before you buy a monument.
